Credit Union of Georgia Sponsors Kennesaw State University's 2nd Annual Shining Star Luncheon

(Kennesaw, GA) Credit Union of Georgia sponsored Kennesaw State University's 2nd Annual Shining Star Luncheon honoring the 2009 Shining Stars Winners and their Supervisors on October 5, 2009. The 2009 Shining Stars Winners were recognized for providing outstanding customer service efforts throughout the year at Kennesaw State University. Of all the university employees that were recognized as Shining Stars in 2009, Brent Obleton, Administrative Specialist in the Cultural Awareness Resource Center, was awarded the honor of being this year's Shining Star of the Year. Mr. Obleton was awarded a plaque and $200.00 check from Kennesaw State University and Credit Union of Georgia in recognition of his achievement.

Kennesaw State University's Shining Star Program embodies the University's long valued concept of providing superior customer service and provides easier, faster, and friendlier access to services and processes for customers so they can conduct business more efficiently.

Credit Union of Georgia is honored to sponsor and participate in the events related to The Shining Star Program at Kennesaw State University because the Credit Union also embraces the program's values of providing exceptional service in its day-to-day operations.

Credit unions are member-owned, not-for-profit financial institutions that provide many of the same financial services that banks do, including checking, savings, loans, mortgages, credit cards, home equity loans, and much more. However, they are uniquely different because any money made by the credit union is returned to its members/owners in the form of dividends and lower interest rates.

For nearly 50 years, Credit Union of Georgia has been a part of the north metro Atlanta community. Credit Union of Georgia is one of the most stable financial institutions in the nation, according to Bauer's Financial Reports — an authority on financial institution stability.

As a state chartered credit union, Credit Union of Georgia is strictly regulated by the Department of Banking and Finance and the National Credit Union Administration, an agency of the U.S. government and insured by the National Credit Union Administration, NCUA.
