

Retail Employees Credit Union staff cheer on Special Olympic athletes

Retail Employees Credit Union staff cheered for more than 2,000 Special Olympic athletes from around the state of Georgia as they competed in aquatics, soccer, volleyball, tennis, gymnastics, and track & field. The 2008 Atlanta Special Olympics took place on Saturday, May 31st at Emory University. “Our volunteers had a fantastic time assisting with the various events and photographing the athletes” said Vivian English, RECU Marketing Coordinator. Special Olympics is the world's largest year-round program of sports training and competitions for individuals with intellectual disabilities. Special Olympics strives to provide long-term benefits to individuals' health, self-esteem and social integration. Vickie Ford, RECU Financial Services Manager, said “These athletes inspire people to open their minds, accept and include people with disabilities, and strive to achieve their own personal best”.
